The mishap occurred on the Teegarden road, 1.6 miles west of Route 45. The patrol said Fisher was driving too fast for road conditions and lost control. Several feet of guard rail was torn out when the auto left the road.

Condition Poor

Fisher suffered a compound fracture of the right leg, lacerations of the face and hands, dislocated bones in the left hand, and bruises. His condition is poor today at City hospital.

His brother, Ernest, 25, of Alliance sustained a lacerated forehead and left leg, possible fractured ribs. His condition is good.

The mishap on Route 224, near Ellsworth at 10:30 a. m. Monday took the life of Clarence E. Stephenson, 68, of Trenton, Mich., and seriously injured four others.

The patrol said Stephenson was passing another car without the assured clear distance and collided head-on with a car operated by Stella Kyle, 65, of Akron. Both cars were demolished.

The injured are: Mrs. Viola Stephenson, 68, bruises and lacerations of the face, fractured nose, contusions of both legs.

Dick Leavitt, 19, of Wyandotte, Mich., fractured skull, lacerations and abrasions of the face.

Mrs. Kyle, possible fracture of dorsal vertebrae, possible skull fracture, laceration of right cornea, possible fracture of left collarbone.

The injured were taken to South Side hospital, Youngstown. Stephenson died enroute to the hospital of a crushed chest and fractured skull. It was the seventh traffic fatality in the Salem patrol area during October.

Boy Seriously Hurt

Six-year-old John Stewart of Wellsville was seriously injured when he ran into the road and was struck by a car driven by Bertha B. McLaughlin, 40, of Wellsville at 5:25 p. m. Monday.

The accident happened on Route 7 between Wellsville and East Liverpool.

The boy sustained a fractured skull, fractured hip and abrasions.

Collision With Truck Badly Damages Cars

A car driven by Vesta M. Sheets of R. D. 3, Salem, collided with a tractor-trailer, parked on S. Broadway at 1 p. m. Monday.

The tail gate of the truck caught the right rear door of her car as she made a left turn onto Broadway from E. Pershing. The car was badly damaged.

Police said the truck driver refused to give Mrs. Sheets any information.

October Accidents Killed 7, Hurt 67

Monday's traffic accidents ended a 61-day period which took heavy toll in deaths and injuries on district highways, Corp. Edward Mallory of the Salem state highway patrol said.

During October the patrol investigated 84 accidents, in which seven persons were killed and 67 others injured, many seriously. One other person died in an airplane crash. The patrol arrested 140 drivers.

September yielded 96 accidents, eight deaths and 77 injuries. Arrests totaled 126.

Purge Program Set By CIO's Right Wing

Machinery To Oust Leftists Due To Start Today

By HAROLD W. WARD
CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The CIO began to set up the machinery today for firing pro-Communist officers and unions as part of the purge program of its militant right-wing.

The CIO convention also paved the way for boosting the per capita on the 4,000,000 to 6,000,000 members of the CIO from a temporary eight cents a month to a permanent dime.

That would help make up the financial loss if the three to a dozen left-wing unions facing removal actually are tossed out at this week's convention.

Leaves Little Doubt
CIO President Philip Murray left little doubt that was his intention at the convention's opening session yesterday. He said the CIO would "cleanse" itself at this convention of left-wing elements adhering to Communist policy.

The big fight over ouster could erupt today or tomorrow on the convention floor. The constitutional changes recommended by a committee headed by Frank Rosenblum of the Amalgamated Workers would be enough to stir the left-wing leaders.

The financial increase was proposed by the constitution committee and was directly connected with the left-right war because it would help bear the cost of fighting to recapture the rank and file membership of the ousted unions as well as offset the loss.

Suggest Amendment
In addition to that proposal, the committee proposed that the CIO convention be amended to make a Communist, Fascist, or member of any totalitarian movement ineligible for membership on the CIO's 51-member policy-making executive board.

The board, in turn, would be empowered to remove any such member, and to boot out any union whose "policies and activities are consistently directed toward the achievement of the program or the purposes of the Communist party, any Fascist organization, or other totalitarian movement, rather than the objectives and policies set forth in the constitution of the CIO."

Sen. Byrd Speaker At Cleveland Today

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-V.) was to be the main speaker today at the American Automobile Association opened its 47th annual meeting.

More than 600 delegates representing a claimed AAA membership of 2,700,000 were expected for the two-day convention.

Other speakers include Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson, Lieut. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, and Wilfred Andrews, chairman of the Royal Automobile club of London, England.

Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) and Spencer Miller, Jr., New Jersey state highway commissioner, will debate on whether federal aid should be confined strictly to rural roads.

Truman Signs New Farm Bill

No Comment Made As President Pens

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The compromise farm bill of the 81st congress became the law of the land today for at least one production season.

President Truman put his signature on the measure late yesterday. He thereby tossed the so-called Aiken law of the Republican's 80th congress into the wastebasket before it had a chance to go into effect.

But the new measure—which permits continuation of farm price supports at or near wartime levels—was not necessarily assured of a long span.

No Comment
To the surprise of some political and farm circles, the President made no statement in connection with the signing.

Persons in these quarters had expected him to use the occasion to say in effect that the new law is better than the GOP measure, but that he still wanted the so-called Brannan plan.

Those close to Secretary of Agriculture Brannan said they felt Mr. Truman is as much in favor of the Brannan proposal as ever. The President has given it warm endorsement on several occasions.

The new law is not too far from price support recommendations of the Brannan proposal. It would permit price supports more nearly in line with the Brannan proposal than would the Aiken law.

The big point of difference is the way the various measures would handle surpluses of perishable products, chiefly meats, dairy and poultry products, fruits and vegetables.

Make Up Difference
The Brannan plan would allow low prices of these products to seek their natural levels. If prices fell below a pre-determined "fair" level for producers, the latter would get government payments making up the difference.

The new law, like the Aiken measure, does not permit this. Instead it requires the government to maintain prices at support levels by removing surpluses from the market by means of government purchases or loans to producers.

Both Mr. Truman and his Secretary of Agriculture have said the Brannan plan would give consumers a "price break" on surpluses which they cannot get under the present method.

Fifty-Four Believed Dead In Air Crash

Bolivian Flier Crashes Airliner Over Washington

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Eastern Airlines here said U. S. Rep. George J. Bates, Republican, of Salem, Mass., was a passenger aboard the E. A. L. plane which collided with a military plane over Washington, D. C., today and crashed.

Bates, 58, a native of Salem, was a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives from 1918 to 1924. He served as mayor of Salem from 1924 to 1937.

P. M. Clifford of Washington, who witnessed the collision, estimated the planes were about 300 feet in the air.

Into River

He said the smaller plane plunged into to Potomac and disappeared.

"I was driving south when I suddenly looked up," Clifford said. "I saw a ball of fire and a trail of smoke about 300 feet above the ground and one plane falling."

"I parked my car and ran to the river bank. I saw them bring a woman out of the wreckage and several men. They were terribly battered. I could not stand to look any more."

The underbelly of the airplane was ripped open.

Volunteers working with police and firemen had the first bodies removed from the plane before the confusion subsided at the scene. Hundreds of automobiles were backed up on the highway which was blocked by police for the ambulances.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration identified the pilot of the military plane as Rios Bridoux, director of Civil Aviation in Bolivia.

The CAA gave this account of the actual crash:

The Bolivian was on a test flight from National airport. As he came back toward the field he asked for landing instructions and was advised by the tower that he was second to come down, behind the EAL flight.

The tower ordered Bridoux to circle the field so as to come in behind the commercial ship.

He did not acknowledge the call, which the control tower repeated several times.

Tower observers saw him coming straight in and called to him to pull up. There was no indication that he heard or understood the order.

Bolivian embassy officials said he was their country's best pilot who had been trained in various U. S. schools and at Randolph field. He was 28.

The CAA's first reports were that the military plane hit the big airliner's tail or left wing.

CAA understood there were 49 passengers aboard the DC-4 and a crew of four. The plane was due to go on from Washington to Atlanta, with stops at Charlotte and Raleigh, N. C.

Salem's own Halloween Mardi Gras was celebrated last night by 3,000 residents, either participating in the parade or lining the streets to watch the mummers.

Music for the downtown parade and festivities at Reilly stadium was provided by the American Legion Quaker City band and the High school band. The American Legion Charles H. Carey post sponsors the annual event.

Before a chilled, but laughing crowd of approximately 1,000 at the stadium, judges selected winners for many merchandise prizes provided by Salem merchants.

Judges were Atty's Guy Mauro and Jay Hunston, Mrs. Howard McDonald, Mrs. James Rawsthorne, Mrs. Kenneth Harsh, Wade Loop, William Wark, Mrs. Chet Kridler, Robert Zarbaugh, Don Cope, Ray Cuthbert, Leslie Brantingham, Ray Reich and William Schaeffer, post commander.

Balance Of Struck Steel Plants Due To Settle

PEACE IN BETHLEHEM—CIO President Philip Murray, right, representing the United Steelworkers, and Joseph Larkin, vice president in charge of industrial relations at Bethlehem Steel Corp., sign copies of the contract which represents the first major break in the nation-wide steel strike. The negotiations, carried on in Cleveland, resulted in a settlement calling for company-paid pensions. Bethlehem, the industry's second largest producer, employs 80,000 workers.

May Avert Timken Strike Friday

Extension Of Terms Offered By Firm

CANTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A possibility that a strike of 10,000 Ohio employees of the Timken Roller Bearing Co. Friday night may be averted arose today when the company offered to extend the negotiation period in its contract with the CIO United Steelworkers.

W. E. Wykoff, president of the Timken Golden lodge, largest local of Timken Steelworkers, said he expects the company and union to resume negotiations today.

"We offered the extension," he said, "but the company is not going to decide the terms of the extension. We've got to sit across the table to decide that."

Contained In Letter
The company's offer was contained in a letter from G. H. Turner, director of industrial relations for the Timken firm.

Turner's letter was accompanied by a copy of a proposed extension agreement under which negotiations on the questions of wages, pensions and insurance could continue until Dec. 31.

The union's right to strike in support of its demands would expire 10 days after that date.

Earlier, union leaders throughout the Timken organization had held out little hope of averting the walkout. Plans had already been laid for setting up picket lines at the plants in Canton, Columbus, Wooster, Zanesville and Mount Vernon.

The union is seeking company-paid pensions of $100 a month. Its demands are similar to those being made by the Steelworkers in the nationwide dispute, except that the present Timken insurance plan has been considered adequate to meet the National CIO demands.

Negotiations had been reopened Oct. 17 under provisions of the present contract, which expires July 19, 1950.

Jaycee Groups Push Ohio Vote Campaign

The Salem Junior Chamber of Commerce will join all state Jaycee chapters in a campaign to urge Ohioans to vote Nov. 8.

Using the slogan, "Freedom—in war you fight to keep it; in peace you vote to keep it," the Jaycees will begin what it terms "the most extensive state-wide project ever undertaken" by the organization.

William Kessler of Zanesville, state president, issued a statement which said in part:

"If democracy is to live in the United States and free enterprise is to continue as we know it, the citizens of this state and nation must take an active part in the selection of the men who run our local, state and national governments, and must take a side in the issues of the day."

He said 8,500 Jaycees in more than 100 cities will take part in the program.

Voters Approval Of School Levy Is Sought

The Salem board of education's voted 1.5 mill levy for operating the schools, expires this year. Along with its renewal the board is asking for an additional 1.5 mills to meet the increased costs necessary to take care of the enlarging enrollment.

Since September, 1947, the enrollment in the elementary schools has risen from 1194 to 1422, it is pointed out. By 1954—the period for which the levy is to run—the enrollment will jump to 1623. Additional teachers, janitors, textbooks, supplies and other running expenses are needed to provide a good, well-balanced program of education in the elementary schools, school officials add.

Salem's school building program is being completed rapidly enough to "just get under the wire," as ever-increasing numbers of children pour into the primary grades. Already the new Buckley school is within 20 pupils of full capacity. At Prospect and McKinley schools where new additions are sufficiently completed for classrooms, enrollments have increased 120 and 88 respectively.

In undertaking to offer Salem's children a school program geared to the times, the board of education is depending on the support of all citizens by asking approval of the 3-mill tax levy on Nov. 8.

Bethlehem Pact Shatters Front

Resume Work After Pension Settlement

CLEVELAND, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Bethlehem Steel Corp. left a wide hole in the once solid ranks of the strike-closed steel industry today and started firing up for business as usual.

Shattering a well worn precedent of waiting to see what the nation's No. 1 producer—U. S. Steel Corp.—would do, Bethlehem, No. 2, came to terms last night with Philip Murray and his CIO-United Steelworkers.

Murray, here for the CIO's national convention, made no effort to conceal his jubilation.

He cried at a rally:

Must Maintain Elders
"American industry might as well recognize this fact. That it will be required in the future to maintain its elderly workers on a reasonably decent basis—with-out their going to the poorhouse, public charity or relatives or friends for help."

"How much was expended in 1948 on the wear and tear of the human machine? Five million dollars."

"That is the issue, that is what we're fighting about."

A few hours later, at midnight, the first of Bethlehem's 80,000 workers gleefully started back. It will take about a week to get the plants into full operation.

The main feature of Bethlehem's terms was a minimum $100 monthly pension for all employees with 25 years service reaching the age of 65 or over. Those with 20 years will receive $85. After 15 years, $65.

Other Companies To Study Agreement Made By Bethlehem

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A welfare plan agreement that sends 80,000 striking CIO Steelworkers back to their jobs with Bethlehem Steel Corp. today buoyed government hopes for a quick end to both the steel and coal strikes.

Officials said they expect other steel firms will follow in the footsteps of Bethlehem, the nation's second largest steel producer, which signed an agreement last night to end the strike so far as this company was concerned.

The government officials said now that a break has come in the steel strike, definite peace moves may be expected in coal because of the close relations of the two basic industries.

Signed In Cleveland

Bethlehem signed up in Cleveland last night with Philip Murray, president of the CIO and striking Steelworkers.

"We broke the line," Murray exulted. "From here on we move with a firmness of purpose and a determination that victory will attend our efforts."

The precedent-making contract gives Bethlehem workers employer-paid pensions starting at $100 a month, including the benefits they get from the government's social security system.

It also calls for a death, sickness, accident and hospital cost insurance plan worth five cents an hour per worker, with employer and worker equally sharing costs.

Murray and Bethlehem officials worked out final details and signed the agreement at a three-hour conference between sessions of Murray's CIO convention at Cleveland.

The reaction was swift. Government Mediation Chief Cyrus S. Ching said he trusted "this settlement will lead to industrial peace in the steel industry generally, at a very early date."

A Public Servant

The public-service career of Edward R. Stettinius Jr. began at the outbreak of World War II, when he resigned as chairman of the board of U. S. Steel Corp. Previously, he had been a vice president of General Motors.

As a federal official, Mr. Stettinius was identified prominently with two momentous policies—wartime lend-lease and U. S. support of the United Nations. In both he played a strong role.

He will be remembered as a secretary of state, one of the few who ever held that high position without any claim to political preferment. When he retired from government service, having been the first U. S. delegate to the United Nations, he served the University of Virginia as rector until his death this week.

The younger Stettinius, like his father, felt a strong obligation to serve his society in accordance with his capacity. Both men gave up large salaries to accept this obligation, and both performed invaluable public service.

Extending Sympathy

In due course of events, Admiral Denfeld, scapegoat for the Navy's resistance to the Truman administration's conception of military unification, will be succeeded by another admiral as chief of naval operations. His place on the joint chiefs of staff will be taken by someone appointed by President Truman and certified by Navy Secretary Matthews on the grounds of compatibility.

In other words, the next chief of naval operations will be in a tough spot because the circumstances of his appointment will put him on the defensive with many members of his own department. Admiral Denfeld himself was in the same tough spot. He finally got out of it by leaving no doubt when he testified before the house armed services committee that he hadn't accepted the appointment to run the U. S. Navy—as Winston Churchill once said about his duty to the British empire—to preside over the dismemberment.

Admiral Denfeld did not strike his colors, and that's to his credit. Right or wrong, he preserved his own integrity, in refreshing contrast with the attitude of officials whose main concern is in preserving their jobs.

Thick Skins

In his latest news conference, the President of the United States explained that he had become embarrass-proof during his years in the White House. It's an interesting idea.

If a chief executive can learn to take Pen-dergast, Vaughan and an assortment of similar embarrassments in his stride, there's hope for all of us. Thick skins may save the day.

We can quit being embarrassed because a government which can't control its own rate of spending assumes the right to give financial advice to other governments.

We can quit blushing because a handful of private individuals with big ideas about their personal power can do more damage to national welfare with government connivance than could be done during the initial stages of a war with a foreign enemy.

We can quit lowering our eyes in confusion and shame over some of the things said and done by highly-placed public officials—men who seem determined to confirm the worst fears of the aristocrats who warned that democracy would fizzle because it would put a premium on vulgarity and avarice.

We can quit apologizing to the rising generation for tolerating things which are certain to go from bad to worse until they produce emergencies of the first magnitude a few years from now.

We too can learn to be thick-skinned in an era when a decent regard for the accepted tenets of taste and morals is circumstantial evidence of fuddy-duddiness. Or as "General" Vaughan said recently, explaining some of his curious actions, it doesn't matter a whoop to him what anyone thinks of his behavior because he aims to please only two people on earth—Mr. Truman, who appointed him to the public payroll, and Mrs. Vaughan. Yessir, the boys grew mighty thick skins in the autumn of 1949. Probably figured they'd need 'em for a long, hard winter.

A Big Difference

To those who argue that the development of labor monopolies in the United States has been a natural and inevitable consequence of industrial experience, the argument for curbing the managers of the monopoly sounds weak. Worse than that it's likely to sound as though it were being made in bad faith.

A staunch defender of the rights of labor unions to do anything that comes into their leaders' minds, above and beyond all restrictions proposed to make the leaders more accountable, may argue that a strike is no worse than a lock-out; that management's right to close down a project is merely matched by labor's right to go on a strike.

But there's a difference—a big one. Management's objective is to stay in business as long as it can. No manager arbitrarily closes a plant, at least not if he is responsible to stockholders. But a plant can be closed by the decision of a union and hundreds of plants in the same category can be closed if the union has approached monopoly power.

Within a few days, hundreds of thousands of Americans will be unemployed for no better reason than the decision of a few union leaders in related industries to call strikes. Some of the unemployed will be many times removed from the original strikers. They will be in automobile companies, in small manufacturing enterprises unable to obtain coal and steel. They will be the employees of companies willing to do anything within reason to stay in business and provide employment but unable to lift a finger against the consequences of labor monopoly. Anyone who tries to tell them there's no difference between a strike and a lockout will have the statement thrown back in his teeth. Employers do not close up their projects on impulse. Union bosses do. That's a big difference.

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

Watching a surgeon rescue a dying woman from the tentacles of cancer is an unforgettable sight.

I had this experience over the weekend along with a number of newsmen and 1,000 doctors invited to the demonstration by the American Cancer society.

It was done by television, using a color process developed by the Columbia Broadcasting system. And it proved—whatever the immediate commercial future of color television may be—that this form of video already is of value in teaching surgical techniques.

THE VIEWING SCREENS were set up in the Biltmore hotel. The television camera itself was 25 blocks away, trained on an operating table in Memorial hospital.

The surgeon was Dr. Alexander Brunschwig, a famous cancer expert. The woman, about 51, was unidentified. She had agreed in advance to allow the operation to be televised, hoping it would be of value to the assembled doctors.

"This is in no sense a cure," explained Dr. Brunschwig. "Her case is hopeless. Radiation has failed. She is in pain, and this operation will relieve that."

He spoke through a microphone attached to his throat. The camera showed only his hands and the patient's abdomen as he swiftly made his incision.

Opening the body cavity, he discovered the malignant tumor had spread through most of the woman's lower organs. The tissues stood out in clear relief under color television. But whenever the camera switched back to black-and-white, they became almost indistinguishable.

Quickly, cutting here, putting clamps there, he freed the malignant mass. Its size drew a gasp from the audience. To remove it the surgeon had to take out the cervix, bladder, and part of the colon and intestine.

"NOW WE HAVE TAKEN OUT all the tumorous tissue visible to the naked eye," said Dr. Brunschwig. His inference was clear—there were other malignant areas impossible to reach with the knife. The blue-black cancer spots on the excised organs showed clearly on the screen.

"There is some question as to whether radical operations of this nature are worthwhile," the surgeon said, calmly, as he sewed up the severed blood vessels.

"But we learn something from them. And some patients have lived more than two years—after such operations."

"The patient is relieved of pain and restored to usefulness—for a time at least. In any case we don't philosophize about it too much. We do for each individual what we can."

And the picture faded from the screen as the surgeon went about the routine task of sewing up his patient.

Later that day I sat before another TV set and watched Notre Dame sink the Navy at football, 40 to 0. It's an eerie thing—television, catching a life and death drama in the morning, football in the afternoon.

All through the game I kept thinking of the unknown lady in the hospital, who can't live very long but at least won't hurt for a while. I wonder what she will do with the time she has left?

Guarding Your Health

By DR. HERMAN BUNDESEN

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

A circular and very powerful muscle, known as the cardiac sphincter, connects the esophagus and the stomach and at the same time serves to close the upper entrance to the stomach except when food is being swallowed.

Sometimes this muscle becomes over-tense to create the disorder known as cardiospasm. Occurring most often in people between the ages of 30 and 50, it often follows some type of emotional strain. As a result of the spasms of the muscle, there may be a narrowing of the opening through the lower end of the esophagus. Food lodges above this narrow part and the esophagus gradually enlarges, thickens, and lengthens.

Difficult Swallowing

Symptoms of cardiospasm consist in difficult swallowing, the vomiting of food, and pain underneath the lower part of the breast bone. During excitement or periods of depression, the spasm is most severe. The lack of food results in loss of weight and anemia, or lessening of the coloring in the blood. Eventually, there is severe malnutrition.

X-ray examination is important in making a diagnosis. The X-ray will show the narrowing of the lower end of the esophagus and the lengthening and swelling of the part of the tube just above this narrow portion.

Other conditions which may be mistaken for cardiospasm include ulcer of the stomach and tumor growths.

Bland Diet

In the beginning this condition may be benefited by giving drugs, such as oxytetracycline, which relax the spasm. The patient should have a bland, nutritious diet without much bulk. The narrowing may be stretched by using a rubber bag which is passed into the esophagus and inflated with water.

If this treatment does not bring relief and cannot be satisfactorily carried out, it is suggested that an operation be performed to overcome the difficulty. Prior to operation, the patient is put on a fluid diet for a few days though, if the deformity has been present for a long time, it may not.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

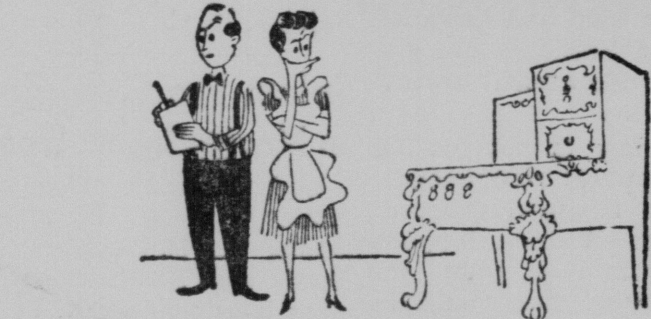

A Reader: What would cause a continual ache in the throat?

Answer: This may be due to a spasm of the throat's muscles. It might also be the result of some infection in the tonsils.

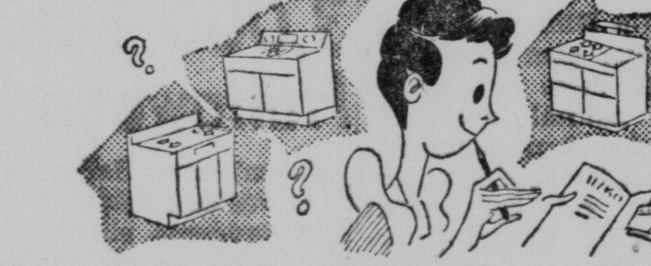

An examination by a physician would be advisable to determine the exact cause.

Incomes Down Some In 1950, Experts Guess

Agriculture Dept.
Foresees Dip For U.S. Farmers, Others

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—(UP)—The Agriculture department today ventured these predictions of what farmers, workers and housewives can expect next year:

1. Slightly fewer Americans will be employed and they will earn slightly less money.

2. Prices received by farmers for their products will drop 10 per cent.

3. Retail prices will be a little lower, but will not drop as much as farm prices.

4. Most farmers are in a "strong financial position" and will ride out the blow of next year's lower incomes.

These forecasts were made at the department opened a five-day "farm outlook" conference. The prediction on the lower income and lower employment was made by the department's bureau of agricultural economics. It based its estimate on an anticipated "gradual decline" in the nation's economic activity.

"Aside from the possibility of a substantial increase in defense expenditures, the gradual downturn in activity that appears probable for next year will be reflected in slightly lower levels of employment and incomes than in 1949," the report said.

The report represented a cross-section of expert government opinion on 1950 prospects. It was prepared by the Agricultural economists after consultation with President Truman's economic advisers, the Federal Reserve board and the Labor and Commerce departments.

As for farmers' income, the department said their net income may drop 15 per cent from 1948. If so, that would mean farmers next year will net only $2 for every $3 they netted in 1947, their best postwar year.

Farmers' net income will drop more than their gross income because farm production costs will not fall as much as the prices farmers receive.

However, Dr. O. C. Stine, an assistant chief of the bureau of agricultural economics, said in an interview that farmers generally are well prepared for the slimmer pickings.

He said that farm indebtedness is way down, bank savings are high, farms are well-equipped and productivity has been well developed. Some further declines in land values can be expected, he said, but earnings on farm investments will continue at a high level next year.

Because of the anticipated drop in the prices farmers receive for their products, the department said, their share of the consumer's food dollar may drop in 1950 to 47 or even 46 cents. The farmer's share was 52 cents last year and about 49 cents this year.

Will Reach Record
Charges for marketing farm food products are expected to reach a record high this year, the department said, and probably won't drop much next year. It said profits accounted for a little less than 10 per cent of the total marketing charges this year.

The department said that should farmers' net income drop 15 per cent next year—as predicted—farmers still would be getting more than two and a half times the average net income in 1935-39. Furthermore, the department said, the drop probably would be offset in part by somewhat lower living costs.

Farmers probably will spend less for farm equipment next year and this will tend to maintain the level of net cash available for living costs, the department said.

Letters To The Editor

SAFETY ON ROADS

Editor, The News:

I think everyone will agree that automobile accidents are on the increase. What is to be done about it? It seems to me there is some kind of insanity sweeping the people, especially the younger set. All they talk about is automobiles. All the talk and effort the safety council seems to do little or no good.

The ones who need advice are the least to heed it. So the only way I see to check it is through the law and people who will enforce them.

I think the highway patrol is doing the best they can, but it looks to me that the mayors, and justices of the peace, that the violators are taken before, are making a racket out of it.

When the driver is brought before them he just gives them what they think he is able to pay and let's him go back out on the road to endanger himself and other people.

Maybe he has an accident and it proves fatal and the law officers loses a customer but there is always another one trying to make himself famous.

There are too many driving cars today that is not capable of riding a kitty car, and when they get a ticket for reckless driving, they show it to their pals and brag about it for the one who gets the most is "King of the Cowboys."

Now I think every one brought in for speeding or reckless driving should have their license taken away long enough and until they learn to drive and respect the law and human life.

This may slow it up, but the only way to stop speeding is to stop the automobile factories from making a car that will go over 50 miles an hour. Of course they like to make fast cars, it is good for their business, for a car wrecked going 70 miles an hour is seldom worth fixing up.

Here is hoping something can be done to public enemy No. 1. To try and save these young people's lives.

Alliance Donates 25,000 Home To Paraplegic Vet

ALLIANCE, Nov. 1 — (AP)—Alliance's only paraplegic World War II veteran, 25-year-old Paul Fisher, owned a $25,000 new home today, the gift of the city's thankful residents.

Built specially for Fisher's convenience—he lives in a wheelchair because he is paralyzed from the waist down—the six-room, one story house is in one of Alliance's finest sections.

And it was purchased with money from the pockets of the city's citizens, plus an enormous amount of help from building contractors and laborers who worked for nothing except gratitude.

Recall D-Day

When leaders in politics, industry and labor formally presented Fisher with the key to the house yesterday, they were thinking back to D-day on Omaha beach in Normandy.

Fisher, an infantryman, was wounded in the back and arm by shrapnel that day and paralysis set in. Since then he has been in and out of hospitals for nearly five years.

The idea of donating the home started four years ago, and more than $11,000 was raised in a city-wide campaign. Soaring building costs delayed the project, but after Mayor Robert D. Althouse, a wounded war veteran himself took over, the plan started to move.

Builders suppliers contributed material. Bricklayers, carpenters, plumbers, plasterers, painters and electricians gave their services free on Saturday and off days.

The house was so designed that there would be few doors and low light switches. A shower spray accommodates his wheelchair.

Fisher and his mother, who have been living with relatives, said they will be in the home as soon as they have time.

Right now Fisher is a student at Mount Union college. He hopes to be an accountant.

Lorain Paper On Pan For Ad "No"

LORAIN, Nov. 1—(INS)—The Lorain Journal has once again refused to accept advertising from a client who advertised over the radio—this time from the city's Republican committee.

With a federal anti-trust suit already filed against its owners and its business and advertising managers, the paper refused to take an advertisement because the GOP committee also advertised over Radio Station WEOL in nearby Elyria.

One of the defendants in the government suit, Business Manager D. P. Self, said last night:

"We want to be consistent. It is our policy not to accept advertising from people who advertise on the radio."

The Journal, Lorain's only daily paper, is waging war on WEOL.

Dozens of affidavits are on file with U. S. attorneys charging that their advertising was refused in the paper soon after they signed contracts with WEOL.

Samuel Horvitz, publisher of The Journal, is a Cleveland contractor who bought out The Journal and the Mansfield News-Journal.

The government instituted its suit Sept. 22, on monopoly charges. A hearing is scheduled before Federal Judge Emerich B. Freed Nov. 15.

The gavial, resembling the crocodile, is believed to be the oldest living species of air-breathing vertebrates.

Time For Action In Coal Strike, Sen. Taft Feels

CINCINNATI, Nov. 1—(AP)—U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft, co-author of the Taft-Hartley labor law, believes the time apparently has come to invoke the provisions of that act to end the coal strike.

Sen. Taft, Ohio Republican, only about a week ago said he did not believe the situation was serious enough to merit use of Taft-Hartley law provisions but, speaking to members of the American Machine Tool Distributors' association here last night, the senator said:

"While I have not full access to all the sources of information, it certainly looks as if the coal strike has reached a point where it threatens the health of the people of the United States.

As it reaches that point, the President's duty to make use of the Taft-Hartley law seems to me to be clear."

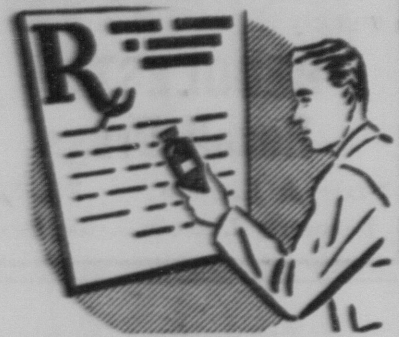

Under the Taft-Hartley law, the President could get the miners back to work for 80 days if a federal court agreed that a national emergency exists.

Sen. Taft's speech before the Machine Tool distributors was one of two he gave here yesterday before industrial organizations.

Earlier in the day he spoke before the National Association of Independent Tire Dealers and he took a poke at the Democratic-controlled 81st congress which only recently adourned.

"If we move as far to the left in the 82nd congress as we did in the 81st, the whole nation faces ruin," he said.

"It seems to me to be the height of idiocy to take our present economic system at the very peak of its success and throw it away for a system that has been proven a complete failure—even in Great Britain where it has been given its best trial."

WE THE WOMEN

Have you turned your husband into a "silent partner" when it comes to family life?

You have—if:

You accept invitations for the two of you without first consulting him.

You don't ask him to go along when you select a new piece of furniture for the house.

You make up the guest list for your parties without even showing it to him or asking him if there is anybody he'd especially like to have.

You decide important matters concerning the children all on your own instead of telling them, "Your father and I will talk it over."

You'd be furious if he ever invited somebody to dinner on the spur of the moment, telling you what he has done instead of asking if it would be all right.

Do You Force Friends on Him?
Your "mutual" friends are ac-

In the center is Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers. In an address before the convention, Acheson stressed the effect of combating communism in President Truman's "Point Four" program. Murray promised the delegates that the CIO would clean house of its Red membership "before the week is out."

tually "your" friends and your husband is supposed to like them for the simple reason that you like them or think they are "worthwhile."

You do all the family budgeting—because you feel you are a better manager.

You help the children "get around" their father—helping them keep things from him they don't want him to know about, and helping them to get their own way.

You feel free to veto any plan of your husband's that doesn't suit your convenience.

It's fairly easy to turn an easy-going husband into a "silent partner"—because so many men are glad to be relieved of any responsibility around home.

The trick is to get a marriage on the basis of a partnership in which both husband and wife have an equal say—and to keep it there.

Doesn't this make you Boiling Mad?

Why can't you get margarine the way you want it . . . yellow? The women in 31 other states can, including your neighbors in Indiana, Kentucky, and West Virginia.

Why should Ohio be an exception? Why should you have to do all the tiresome work of making margarine yellow?

Other foods—including butter—are artificially colored. But not margarine . . . in Ohio. Why?

It can't be to help the farmer. Over 99% of all vegetable oils used in margarine are products of American farms. There are more than 52,000 soybean farmers in Ohio, and margarine is soybean oil's second-largest market. The farmer benefits from the sale of margarine.

It can't be because yellow margarine will be sold as butter. The law will continue to require that all margarine be sold in packages that prominently label it as margarine. The proposed law will require restaurants to stamp each pat of yellow margarine with a big "M." So there'll be no chance of getting margarine when you ask for butter.

It can't be because yellow margarine will be high priced. Take a look at the shopping ads in the papers in neighboring states that have yellow margarine—Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia. You'll see that yellow margarine costs only about 10¢ a pound more than you now pay for white margarine. Still far below the price of butter. And that's due to the 10¢ federal tax on yellow margarine.

Then why shouldn't you have the right to yellow margarine? Margarine is good food. Good for you and good for your family. Kind to that overworked food budget of yours, too. And now, when you're trying to make every penny buy as much food as it can—now, more than ever—it's time to call a halt to this anti-margarine nonsense.

Your chance comes next Tuesday! Vote "YES" for Yellow Margarine on the Official Questions and Issues Ballot. Put an end to the most unfair, unjust and discriminatory law in the State of Ohio.

The girls' choir of Emmanuel Lutheran church of Salem will sing two anthems at the service: "God Is Our Refuge" and "The House of Prayer." This choir has 25 members, with Mrs. W. J. Seeman as director and Miss Kathryn Minth as organist.

A training school, sponsored by the Lutheran church of southern Mahoning and northern Columbiana counties, held its final session last evening.

Total registrations for the school numbered 153, with the attendance average of 136 for the five evening sessions. The 153 registrations represent persons from all 12 parishes of the sponsoring churches.

Results of a questionnaire distributed among those in attendance at the school indicated that sessions this year were beneficial to those who attended. Plans are now being made for a similar school to be held in the fall of 1950.

Monroe Doctrine For Europe Suggested Again By Sen. Taft

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 — A "Monroe doctrine" rather than a military assistance program, would go further toward insuring peace in Europe, U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft (R.) of Ohio said today.

In a report to his constituents, Mr. Taft criticized American foreign policy, enlarged on his own ideas as to what that policy ought to be and insisted that the United States must end its support to "the plans of totalitarian government in our own country."

It's the President and the State department—not the senate—who control American foreign policy, Mr. Taft said.

President Has Power

The President claims the right to do almost anything by executive agreement which does not require senate approval, he declared. Laws also have given the President control over the American representatives with the United Nations, Mr. Taft continued, so that he may commit the country to war even without congressional action.

Congress has the veto power on treaties and on the spending of money, Mr. Taft explained, but he pointed out: "It is a power difficult indeed to exercise after the President publicly has committed this nation to a particular course of action."

"While I believe that the U. N. serves a useful purpose in providing a forum where issues are discussed, there are few important policies which can be carried out over the Russian veto. As a result, we generally are bypassing that body, as in ECA and the Atlantic pact.

"Our foreign policy today is dominated by the cold war against Communism in Europe. We are providing arms in a rather limited way to eight or 10 European nations.

"Personally, I feel that this is a waste of money and more likely to incite the Russians to war than it is to deter them. I would have favored a Monroe doctrine definitely informing the Russians that if they attack Western Europe they will find themselves at war with us.

Likes Old Doctrine

Mr. Taft labelled the Monroe doctrine "one of the most effective instruments for peace in the 19th century." And it never contained any promises of arms to anybody, he added.

"I fear the military assistance program," Mr. Taft declared, "because the Russians will figure that, if they wait until the arming is completed perhaps four or five years from now, it will be used against them in an aggressive war. They may prefer a war before Western Europe is prepared."

Now that the military assistance program has been adopted, Mr. Taft said, he hopes the money granted will be used for matters "so clearly defensive" that there can be no Russian fear of military attack.

"We can win an ideological war between liberty and Communism," Mr. Taft declared, "if we first sell ourselves on the principle that liberty alone can bring peace and prosperity to America and the world.

"But we no longer can give support to the plans of totalitarian government in this country and apologized for the American economic system.

"If we are true believers in liberty, I am confident we can spread its doctrine throughout the world, as we spread it once before following the American revolution."

THE STARS SAY

For Wednesday, Nov. 2

Fairly progressive, productive and pleasant relations are in sight, yet the successful culmination of all major plans and objectives may depend upon the astute, clever and happy decisions made against odds, possibly due to lack of health, energy or resources. Possessions, job and reputation may be wound up in failing health or hurt of some kind, draining the forces or ambitions. Keep the emotions balanced and compose personal differences.

Those whose birthday it is have forecast of a fairly progressive and pleasant state of affairs, if a tendency to petty indulgence, indecision, neglect of health, or other waste of energies and opportunities is overcome. Job, reputation, possessions and peace of mind might be lost, owing to neglect of health, or an indifferent attitude to major openings, involving personal and domestic life. With a stepping-up of physical energies, medium success is shown.

A child born on this day has good prospects for success and happiness in life, especially if his inertia, lack of energy or ambition be stepped up.

Plain Talk About 'T.B.'

This is one in a series of stories prepared by the Columbiana County Public Health league in order to help promote the eight-tenths mill levy for the care and treatment of tuberculosis to be brought before the voters on Nov. 8. The following is a letter from a patient:

On the approaching anniversary of my re-entry into life as a working citizen I am taking the opportunity to express my grateful thanks again to you and your wonderful organization.

It was the darkest day of my life when the examining physician told me I had pulmonary tuberculosis. In a rather rude manner he continued: "In fact you're full of the bugs and a menace to everyone you come in contact with. You must go to bed immediately and stay there . . ."

His words struck me like a bolt out of a clear sky. I felt the world crumbling about me like a house of cards. After somewhat regaining my composure a complex of question arose in my mind. What would happen next? Was this the end of my career? How would my wife take it? etc., etc. All was confusion, darkness and despair.

Needless to say I obeyed the doctor's order. Fortunately my wife knew how to relieve my mental depression almost at once. "Stop worrying. This thing happened to others before and they got well. So will you. In a sanatorium you'll regain your health quicker than you think," she said. I was grateful for such soothing words. They gave me peace of mind, the very essence of fighting the white plague. Such words, of course, were pure consolation on her part and acquired real meaning only after consultation with the public health authorities.

Soon I was to be a patient in the sanatorium. About life in such institution I could not approach the historic description of Betty McDonald as rendered in her book, "The Plague and I." Needless to say she made liberal use of her poetic license driven by a vivid imagination. However, much of her chapters or parts thereof could have been taken from life at my sanatorium or any other institution of that kind.

I had feared a gloomy life and was glad to find the opposite of it. In the main a cheerful atmosphere prevailed. Soon I felt at ease, at home, gained weight rapidly and my perspective of life moved into a different focus.

Notwithstanding a sign on the wall which ordered patients not to discuss ones sickness except with the doctor, TB was a pretty steady subject of conversation amongst the patients. Reading books and pamphlets by the score almost everyone was eager to express his knowledge about the plague which bound us together and which we were determined to conquer.

One just couldn't help learning a lot about TB not only by reading but by personal experience. Almost everybody had to go through a more or less minor operation such as having the phrenic nerve cut or an adhesion besides the first experience of pneumothorax treatment, etc. All this made lively topic. The quintessence of all bull session was then: Dr. X sure knows his stuff, knows what to do.

It must be emphasized that confidence in the doctor is of utmost importance. Second to this is the patient's confidence in him-under the rules I learned at the San. Observing these I hope to continue for many more years. God willing, I want to say: I licked TB.

Tuberculosis has emerged from something that was feared and not fully understood to something that can be fought in the open. Through the help of the eight-tenths mill levy, the wonderful work done by the Health league and improved medical science, tuberculosis as a killer disease is slowly being beaten back in our country. To wipe it out entirely should be possible.

Care for this man was provided through the eight-tenths mill levy for the care and treatment of tuberculosis which comes up for renewal on Nov. 8.

Harold Kuhns received his graduation present on Sunday. As a reward for graduating from the first grade into the second grade, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Kuhns of the Newgarden rd., financed an airplane ride at the Salem airport.

Two other young men, who have spent an even shorter time in Salem than the seven-year-old lad, are making much progress, air-wise, at the airport.

John Pops, who came to Salem from Rumania less than two years ago, recently logged his cross-country flight. George Marderwald, another D. P. entry, from Poland is now taking lessons at the airport. Marderwald was a glider pilot-instructor in allied-occupied Germany.

Canton McKinley Maintains Top Rating, Mansfield Is 2nd

Salem Ranks 26th In State As Ohio Enters Final Stages Of Grid Slate; 17 Unbeaten

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—At least 17 of Ohio's 576 high school football squads headed into November today with unsullied records.

Four fell by the wayside last week end, suffering their first defeats.

Canton McKinley's Bulldogs still topped the big ten, picked by the state's sports editors and radio commentators, but they needed a rousing fourth-quarter comeback against Alliance to stay there.

Herman (Bup) Rearick's pace-setters found themselves behind 19-13 as the last period started—the first time they've been second this season—but came back with a four-touchdown finale to hand the Avengers their fourth defeat in seven games, 37-19.

Van Wert was the major casualty among the perfect teams, and it literally threw away its game with Lima Central, 14-13. With the score tied at 7-7 late in the third period, and the ball on Van Wert's 12 after a Lima punt, the Cougar center's pass sailed over the backfield and into the end zone where Lima fell on the ball for a touchdown. That was the ball game. Earlier Van Wert fumbled away two chances on Lima's six-yard line, and once on the six-inch.

Warren St. Mary's dropped a 13-0 tilt to Akron St. Mary's; McDonald was defeated 16-13 by Lovellville, and Reynoldsburg was a 13-0 victim of Whittington as the losers fell from the clean class.

Three unbeaten strings were extended. Holland moved up to 26 without defeat by whipping Whitehouse, 30-13. Smithfield made it 22 straight by flattening Brilliant, 53-6, and Louisville advanced to 17 by defeating Canton South, 14-7.

Others with seven-game victory streaks include Canton McKinley, Lakewood and Cincinnati Purcell, all of the "Big Ten," Circleville, Shawnee, Upper Arlington, Grandview, Rutland, Tipp City, Brookville, Wintersville, Oak Harbor and Whittier, Strasburg has six straight.

Cincinnati Purcell is the leading scorer among the top ten teams with 315 points for seven wins, and is second on defense with a 38-point mark. Canton McKinley is third in scoring with 304, and tops on defense with 21. Fremont Ross has 300 points.

McKinley and fifth-place Lakewood battle it out Friday night at Lakewood in the game of the week. In the North-South All-Star game last summer at Massillon, Coach Tommy Ness of Lakewood was chief mentor of the northern All-Stars, and Rearick of McKinley was his assistant.

This and that from here and there: Coach Jack Labay of Smithfield hasn't lost a game in his three years there. . . Circleville's one-man game, Sandy Hill, carried the ball 19 times against Greenfield Friday and scored on runs of 86, 63, 56, 39 and 30 yards, giving him 33 touchdowns and 1690 yards—just 210 yards short of a mile—for seven games. . . College coaches note: Sandy says all that previous stuff about "no college for Hill" is wrong. He's going somewhere, but hasn't made up his mind.)

How close can you get? Sandusky's Blue Streaks played a 14-14 tie with Mooseheart, Ill.; each had 11 first downs, Sandusky led on the ground 195 yards to 194, and in the air 23 to 30; Mooseheart hasn't lost in 21 games; Sandusky was won five, lost one and tied one.

Dick Shatto threw four touchdowns passes, ran 14 yards from scrimmage and 25 with an intercepted pass for other scores as Springfield smothered Dayton Whittier 39-0. . . Canton Timken's 12-0 win over Ashland is the school's first four-victory streak in its history. Akron Garfield's coach since 1936, Earl Wright, died early Thursday but the team won its sixth in seven starts, 14-7 over Canton Lincoln for the new mentor, Dan Flouise.

Hamilton fumbled the ball away seven times, but beat Portsmouth 14-6. . . Dick Jacobs unveiled the old Statue of Liberty play for 75 yards and one of his three touchdowns in the 25-9 win over Warren. . . Big Paul Ludwig, Marion Harding's 182-pound 6-E fullback, scored both touchdowns in beating Ashland 14-6—and he now has 11. . . Jim Widows, son of Ohio U. Dawson To Get New Chance At Williams

Battlers To Fight Nov. 28 In Title Bout Of 15 Rounds

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 1—

(AP)—Freddie Dawson of Chicago who has failed to lick lightweight Champion Ike Williams in three non-title efforts gets another opportunity Nov. 28 and this time the crown will be on the line.

Promoter Phil Glassman announced yesterday that Trenton Ike—undisputed boss of the 135 pounds—had signed to defend his title for the fifth time.

Williams won the undisputed lightweight title by knocking out Bob Montgomery in six rounds at Municipal stadium here Aug. 4, 1947. Williams was National Boxing Association king and Montgomery held the New York-Pennsylvania version of the 135 pound diadem.

Glassman said Williams would draw down 45 and Dawson 10 per cent of an expected $72,000 gate. The promoter said the top priced ticket would cost $6.50—first time Williams will defend his title under less than a $12.50 top. Convention hall capacity for boxing is 13,867.

Williams and Dawson are far from new to each other. The champion just can't seem to shake the persistent challenger from the midwest.

In 1944, Williams knocked out Dawson in four rounds. Then on Jan. 28, 1946, the two fought a bitterly waged draw. The last time they crossed gloves, the champion won a 10-round decision that brought more than a mild round of boos.

The two Negro boxers offer contrasting styles. Williams is a hard hitter who usually presses his opponent while Dawson is a hit-and-run type fighter.

Gifts To Tygers Before Emswiler

COLUMBUS, Nov. 1.—(INS)—

State High School Athletic Commissioner H. W. Emswiler announced today he will conduct a complete investigation into reported gifts of identification bracelets to Mansfield High school football players.

The commissioner said he would check Mansfield school officials "to find out just what's going on." He added:

If the bracelets have any great value, either monetary or intrinsic, the players will have to give them back or the school will face punitive action."

Engraved bracelets were presented to Mansfield's 71 players and managers Saturday by Sam Fox, Mansfield jeweler, in recognition of the Tigers' Oct. 21 victory over Massillon.

The victory, by a score of 16-12, marked Mansfield's first win over Massillon in their 40-year rivalry.

An inscription on the bracelet reads: "Mans. 16-49ers—Mass. 12."

The presentation of the bracelets followed the presentation of a watch to Head Coach Augie Morningstar Friday prior to Mansfield's 48-0 victory over Kent Roosevelt.

Crisler, Tongue In Cheek, Favors Paid College Players

By ED SAINBURY

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—(UP)—Fritz Crisler, a football coaching genius who quit to become Michigan's full-time athletic director, was on record today as favoring a plan to pay football players, providing it would eliminate all evils now connected with the game.

But it was a tongue-in-cheek statement for the balding Wolverine chief. He pointed out so many difficulties and ailments in a game where players would be paid that it was obvious he believed it better to attempt to clean up college football in its present form.

There is "some dishonesty" in football recruiting at present, Crisler told a Quarterback luncheon.

"Maybe we ought to go to a paid player basis," Crisler said. "If it would eliminate the cheating and dishonesty, I'd be for it."

But, he said, "there is dishonesty in politics and business too."

"People expect perfection in administration of collegiate athletic programs. Maybe it's a fine thing that we expect the best in college athletics."

There would be problems connected with a paid player game, he said.

"There'd probably have to be ceilings," he asserted, leaving unsaid the intimation that ceilings could be violated as easily in a game where all players are paid as one in which none legitimately are paid.

"We'd have to compete with the pros," Crisler added. "We'd

Canton, Mansfield Tied For Lead In New Conference

ALLIANCE, Nov. 1.—The battle for the championship of the Ohio Scholastic conference is becoming more tense as the season draws to a close. Today, Mansfield and Canton McKinley are tied for the lead, each with one more conference game left to play, the Tygers with Toledo Waite and the Bulldogs with Massillon.

Massillon is in third place followed by Toledo Waite in fourth place. Alliance is in the number five spot with Warren holding down the cellar.

Mansfield last week had undisputed hold of the Number 1 spot but McKinley beat a fight-and-stubborn Alliance outfit to climb up with the Tygers. Mansfield played a non-conference opponent, Kent Roosevelt, and won 48-0.

Massillon beat Warren, 35 to 19, and Toledo Waite lost, 12 to 6, to Toledo Central Catholic to round out last week's action.

Scheduled for the conference this week is one conference game, Toledo Waite meeting Massillon in Tiptonville. In other action, Alliance meets Cleveland Benedictine, Canton McKinley takes on powerful Lakewood and Warren plays host to Erie academy.

Conference Standings

Teams	W.	L.	Pct.
Mansfield	3	0	1.000
Canton McKinley	3	0	1.000
Massillon	2	1	.667
Toledo Waite	1	1	.500
Alliance	1	4	.200
Warren Harding	0	4	.000

have the greatest centralization football has ever seen. The institutions with the most money would be at the top and I presume the game in those little colleges would fall by the wayside."

"If we're in a noble experiment and we can't do it without dishonesty, maybe we ought to go the other way."

Crisler described instances at Michigan where his players had worked their way through school.

"I saw Tom Harmon wait on tables every morning for many students before he went to class and later to practice," he said. "A lot of players have done that, worked their way."

Crisler said he believed the best program for college football would be to strive to eliminate dishonesty and retain an amateur game.

Mendell Thinks Joe Louis Might Plan A Comeback

By JAMES HACKETT

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Harry Mendell, of New York, exhibition tour agent for Joe Louis, thinks the retired heavyweight champion plans a comeback "or he's getting his dough the hard way."

Louis has denied he plans a return to active fighting.

Mendell said today Louis cancelled "two or three four-round exhibitions," in order to work out in the uptown gym at New York.

"When he boxed four, he never went in the gym," Mendell said. "Now we've got five ten-rounders to do before Christmas. Why do tens when fours will draw the same money?"

Mendell answered himself: "Tens are supposed to draw better crowds. It's a lot more work and Louis either has plans of his own or he's getting his dough the hard way. We let the promoter pick the opponent. For instance, Louis never saw Billy Gilliam before last night when he boxed four rounds against him."

In his dressing room, Louis said he planned the workouts, which will include five miles of roawork in the morning and four rounds of boxing in the afternoon, because "I like it—I want to get down to 214."

Louis weighed 221. Each time he crouched, the heaviness around his middle rolled out over the top of his trunks.

When asked why he wanted to reduce to 214, Louis said "I'd just like to be there."

Mendell said Louis drew $590,000 in gross receipts for his exhibition tour last year.

"He got $220,000 as his share," Mendell said. "And, we should do as well this year."

Notre Dame's Top Ranking Held By Big Vote

Irish Capture 83 Per Cent Of Vote By Nation's Writers

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—

Notre Dame continues to roll up the score in the Associated Press football poll with 83 per cent of the first place votes in the fifth weekly ratings.

New faces come and go in the top 10 but nobody is close to the fighting Irish who were ranked first by 133 of the 161 sports writers and sportscasters participating.

It's getting monotonous. Notre Dame in the No. 1 spot and the other members of the "big four" rushing along behind them. The rest are stragglers in the voting.

Army is second, Oklahoma third and California fourth, just like last week. The "Big Four" cornered all but three of the first place ballots. Oklahoma drew 11, Army 10 and California three.

The others went to 10th-place Michigan State (2) and to seventh-place Cornell (1).

Minnesota and Pennsylvania nosedived out of the top 10 after their respective defeats by Purdue and Pittsburgh Southern Methodist and Michigan State took their places.

None of the "Big Four" was hard pressed last Saturday. Notre Dame thumped Navy, 40-0; Army ran over Virginia Military, 40-14; Oklahoma walloped Iowa State, 34-7, and California turned back UCLA's challenge, 35-21.

On a point basis, with 10 for first, 9 for second and so on, the Irish piled up 1,569 to outdistance the pack. The Cadets' second place margin was sliced but they still hold the edge over Oklahoma, 1,323 to 1,308. California has 1,070 points.

Michigan, the only other team except Notre Dame to lead the poll this season, gained support by topping Illinois, 13-0. As a result the Wolverines advanced a peg from sixth to fifth.

Baylor's unbeaten Bears jumped from tenth to sixth on the strength of a 40-14 ramble against Texas Christian. Cornell moved up one step to seventh on its 54-0 rout of Columbia but Rice, surprisingly, fell from No. 5 to No. 8 despite a 28-0 win over Texas Tech.

Southern Methodist, a 7-6 winner over Texas on Oak Walker's placement, took over ninth position and Michigan State, which faces Notre Dame's powerhouse this Saturday, ruined Temple, 62-14, graduating to 10th place.

Strikes to Spare

The Brittain Motor team, composed of Salem bowlers, set a new team record for the East Palestine bowling alleys Sunday afternoon. The locals ripped off a 2910 series including games of 990, 942 and 978.

Individual scores: Jack Galchick, 600; Dick Hahn, 593; Jack Young, 582; Chuck Huffer, 573; Glenn Oesch, 562.

The Brittain team is leading the Sunday classic league by a healthy margin.

Bowlers interested in bowling in a Saturday afternoon handicap league are asked to contact Don Krauss, Bowling Center alley manager.

The league, now composed of four teams, will begin play at 1 p. m. each Saturday. The first session will be Nov. 12. Four more teams are being sought by Krauss.

Robust Southern Teams Lack Stuff In Grid Ranks

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—(AP)—

The normally robust South has turned anemic in football this year and most of the red corpscles seem to have escaped to the Pacific coast.

A check of major conferences against outside opposition shows the Southwest a stout leader and the Southern the weakest in the land.

The Southeastern, a veritable bowl incubator down through the years, is better than holding its own but is not showing the old-time punch. Its bowl candidates are negligible.

On the other hand, the Pacific coast, an intersectional punching bag since the war, is bouncing back against some chins. As an example, it has won two and tied one of six games with the formidable Big Ten, with which it has a Rose Bowl working agreement.

The wide open Southwesterners—with Baylor, SMU and Rice in the fore—have won 18 games against outside foes while losing only five and tying one.

Touch Football League Proved Talant-laden

Two thrilling contests Sunday afternoon at the Junior High practice field proved to the spectators that the Touch Football league has some rugged teams.

The unheralded Millville Beavers outplayed and outfought the Sons of Italy in the first game to bring home a 10-6 win and the championship of the first round.

"Goose" McGaffick looked like Automatic Otto himself as he connected with several long passes, one to Harry Ehrhart for a TD, and completely outshone the Sons' ace passer, Sammy Stumpo.

The Millville line also turned in a sterling performance. Dick Menough rushed through the Sons' line like an enraged bull to chase Stumpo all over the backfield. Both "Pinky" King and Menough collected a safety each to give Beavers the margin of victory.

Dave Kachner and Orrie Wright weren't to be outdone for the Beavers either. The combination of King, Menough and Kachner snared the Sons' ball carrier for a loss time and time again to present a hard-charging line coupled with a sensational passing attack.

The Northern Stars edged the Western Stars, 12-6 but both teams seemed to lack good offenses in producing a tight defensive tilt.

The Northerners drew first blood in the first half, but the Westerners bounced back in the second half to even up the score.

The game ended in a tie, but according to the rules of the league, the teams had to play until a team scored a touchdown.

The winning TD came on a pass from "Judge" Guiler to "Hoss" Wright from 30 yards out on fourth down.

Pass interceptions were numerous. One feature of the game was the lateral-pass employed by the Northerners, with Guiler and "Brook" Ingledue working the play to effectiveness.

The Salem News won a forfeit from the Colonial Billiards.

Next Sunday the second round begins. A team losing one game is out of the playoff, which pits the two round winners against each other for the championship.

The schedule for next Sunday afternoon is as follows:

1:00—Northern Stars vs. Millville Beavers.

2:30—Salem News vs. Colonial Billiards.

4:00—Sons of Italy vs. Western Stars.

School Levy At Columbiana

Voters' Approval Of Extra Millage Sought

COLUMBIANA, Nov. 1 — An election issue next Tuesday of importance to the people of Columbiana special school district, embracing parts of Beaver and Springfield townships, Mahoning county, is a proposal for an additional two-mill levy to run four years to meet added operating costs in connection with the large addition to the high school building.

Being an operating levy, only a majority of the votes cast on that issue is required to make it effective.

The large new addition to the high school building has involved employment of an additional custodian and added expenses for heating and lighting. The levy would mean an additional tax of only 20 cents on each $100 of valuation.

Neither the Republicans nor the Democrats have a full slate for all the municipal officers to be elected. Mayor K. T. Gromley, Republican candidate for a fourth consecutive term, is opposed by Edward Calvin, Democrat. S. Richard Orr, Democrat, who has served some 20 years as clerk, has no opposition for re-election. Charles B. Fuhrman, Republican, who has served about as long as treasurer, is opposed for re-election by George R. Keller, Democrat.

An entire council is to be elected, and for the six places, the Republicans have five candidates, all new, George W. Childers, Charles T. Donbar, J. L. Hum, Walter N. Miller and Thomas D. Watt. The Democrats have a full slate for council, Walter J. Crawford, G. Charles Fisher, Oliver F. Harrold, Raymond C. Liston, Raymond G. Spiker and Ernest Werner.

Members of the entire board of affairs, Republicans, are up for re-election, Ray E. Harrold, C. M. Hoover and Carl S. Keller. They are opposed by two Democrats, R. Grant Bevington and Lester J. Harrold.

There are four candidates, all new aspirants, on the non-partisan ballot for the three places on the board of education. They are Oscar Bieselt, Dr. James R. Moorehead, Walter R. Simpson and William Allen.

On the non-partisan Fairfield township ballot, there are three candidates for the two places on the board of trustees, E. B. McCamon and W. B. Miller, up for re-election, and Robert C. Stewart. S. S. Weaver, Fairfield township justice of the peace for many years, has no opposition for re-election, and for constable, two to elect, Don R. Gosney, up for re-election, is the only candidate. W.S.C.S. General Meeting

Stettinius' Book Reveals Yalta 'Inside'

U. S. Knew Soviet Aims In 1941, Publication Shows

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(INS)

—A book written by former Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius and published just after his death discloses that the United States and Britain were aware of Russia's post-war aims in June, 1941.

The book, "Roosevelt and the Russians," is scheduled for formal publication by Doubleday Nov. 3. In view of Stettinius' death, the publishers authorized immediate review of the material.

The ex-cabinet officer wrote primarily of the Yalta conference of the late President Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Generalissimo Stalin Feb. 4-11, 1945.

Reveals Knowledge

But in describing the conference background, Stettinius revealed:

1. That in June, 1941, when Russian armies were retreating before the surprise onslaught of Hitler's Wehrmacht, Stalin told Anthony Eden, British foreign minister, that Russia "wanted a Soviet-Polish boundary based on the Curzon line, parts of Finland and Hungary. . . while the Baltic states were to be absorbed."

2. That the Russian aims promptly were relayed to Washington by the British foreign office.

3. That in 1944, Mr. Roosevelt, without consulting the State department, informed Churchill of U. S. acceptance of an agreement giving Russia control over Romania and British control over Greece.

Stettinius defended the much-criticized "Yalta Agreements" and blamed Russia for subsequent major breakdowns.

Concessions Made

The record of the conference shows clearly that the Soviet Union made greater concessions at Yalta to the United States and Great Britain than were made to the Soviets. . .

"The real difficulties with the Soviet Union came after Yalta when the agreements were not respected."

Stettinius praised Alger Hiss, form State department official now facing a second perjury trial on charges growing out of testimony by Whittaker Chambers that Hiss passed government secrets to a Communist spy ring.

He said "Hiss performed brilliantly throughout the Dumbarton Oaks conversations the Yalta conference, the San Francisco conference and the first meeting of the United Nations assembly in London."

Institution Costs Up, State Report Reveals

LISBON, Nov. 1—Rising costs of institutional care is revealed in a directive received today by Probate Judge Milton C. Cope from the Division of Mental Hygiene, Department of Public Welfare of Ohio.

The letter cites recent legislation, effective Oct. 9, amending the General Code of Ohio and providing for charges in excess of $5.50 a week which prior to the effective date had been the maximum charge for diagnosis and treatment of a patient for mental illness.

Under the new schedule persons paying for maintenance of a person in a state operated institution, instead of a flat $5.50 weekly rate, the charge will now be: All state hospitals, including receiving hospitals, $53.20 per week or $212.80 for a four-week period; all state schools, $8.05 a week or $32.20 for the four-week period; and the Gallipolis State institute, $12.95 a week or $51.80 on the four-week basis.

Congressmen Irked

Whatever transpired regarding the future mission of Admiral Sherman, there was a section of congress that didn't like what had happened to Admiral Denfeld.

Four house members—two Republicans, Arends of Illinois and Cole of New York, and two Democrats—Sasser of Maryland and Herbert of Louisiana—charged Johnson and Matthews with "trickery, broken pledges and smear tactics." The congress members contended Johnson had given assurances that there

Adm. Sherman Rumored New Naval Chief

Flies Home, But No Confirmation Made By Top Brass

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1—(AP)—Vice Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, who once before helped produce an accord in the military unification row, was due to arrive today on a flying trip from his Mediterranean naval command.

The popular expectation was that he would be named Chief of Naval Operations to succeed the ousted Admiral Louis Denfeld.

But as the time for Sherman's arrival neared there was disposition toward caution in such speculation.

No Confirmation

For one thing, no official—not President Truman, Secretary of the Navy Matthews, Secretary Defense Johnson nor Sherman himself—had said anything publicly to support what, in the past week, had developed into a widely accepted conclusion.

This suggested several possibilities, among them:

1. That perhaps Sherman at no point had been slated for the job, but was being brought to the Pentagon for another high post in the Navy command or to serve again as a compromise-maker.

That was Sherman's role in 1946 when most of the Navy was fighting passage of a law unifying the armed forces. Sherman, working together with the then Maj. Gen. Lauris Norstad of the Air Force, helped frame the compromise legislation which eventually became the Unification act.

2. That there might have been a chance in original plans since Sherman boarded a commercial airliner in the Mediterranean and started for Washington. In this connection, interest attached to reports that Johnson and Matthews conferred with Mr. Truman in a White House meeting yesterday morning—a time at which Sherman was already headed for the United States.

Whatever Transpired

Whatever transpired regarding the future mission of Admiral Sherman, there was a section of congress that didn't like what had happened to Admiral Denfeld.

Four house members—two Republicans, Arends of Illinois and Cole of New York, and two Democrats—Sasser of Maryland and Herbert of Louisiana—charged Johnson and Matthews with "trickery, broken pledges and smear tactics." The congress members contended Johnson had given assurances that there would be no reprisals for testimony given by the Navy at the hearings before the house armed services committee.

Johnson and Matthews, declared the house members, have "broken faith with congress and the American people" and military leaders who testified are having their "heads chopped off."

of Murray's men quit as negotiations collapsed.

Bethlehem's breaking of the solid front of the steel industry against Murray's pension-insurance demands recalled that it was Bethlehem, too, that became the first Big Steel firm to accept the idea of President Truman's steel fact-finding board.

That was in the early stages of the steel dispute last July. The fact-finding board, after hearings, recommended a 10-cent steel welfare plan peace formula.

Officials here were of the opinion the Bethlehem gave the workers more than the board had recommended.

Get Commitment

But in return, Bethlehem got a contract commitment that the welfare benefit plan won't be touched for a five-year period. Also, the present contract was extended for two years, postponing talk of any wage increase until late 1950.

Government mediators were considering issuing an invitation to bring coal peace talks to Washington. Negotiations between John L. Lewis' striking miners union and southern coal operators were to resume today at Bluefield, W. Va.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said at Cincinnati that it is now President Truman's duty to use the Taft-Hartley act court injunction powers to end the coal strike. Last week Taft said the strike hadn't yet reached the emergency proportions required for invoking an injunction.

Mr. Truman said last Thursday he felt it would be a long time before either the coal or steel strike effects reached emergency proportions.
